TO HOLD CONFERENCE ON "DISHONEST ADS"

Davies M. S. Houston and James Keeley Will Discuss Legal Preventives.

Chairman Davies of the Federal Trade Commission, will confer next week with Herbert S. Houston, secretary of the Associated Advertisers' Club of the World, and James Keeley, editor of the Chicago Herald, on dishonest advertising.

Several weeks ago Mr. Davies spoke in Chicago on dishonest advertising and emphasized the moral wrong involved. He said dishonest advertising was not only harmful to business and costly to the public but one of the worst forms of unfair competition. Dishonest advertising, he said, injured not only the guilty man or firm, but reacted against innocent men and firms.

Secretary Houston and Editor Keeley agreed with Chairman Davies' views on the moral side of the question and have arranged to confer with him here on the legal phases of the subject and the possibilities of enacting laws or promulgating regulations.

Shortage of Dyestuffs Also Felt in England

That England, as well as the United States, has been hard hit by the shortage in German dyestuffs is shown by a report to the Department of Commerce today from Vice Consul Hamilton C. Chabrous at Bradford, England.

By reason of the lack of fast colors, gray and brown have become fashionable in England, dyes reported, and scarlet, pink, and blues are extremely scarce.

Where fabrics containing such colors are sold their fastness is not always guaranteed. Vice Consul Chabrous said that a committee has been formed in Manchester to keep in touch with the British and Swiss sources of supply and to co-operate with the board of trade in obtaining the maximum amount of dyestuffs.

Open Another House at Colored Industrial Home

The opening of another cottage, with accommodations for twenty-three boys, was the most important step in the development of the Industrial Home School for Colored Children during the fiscal year ended June 30, according to the annual report of Superintendent Leon L. Perry, submitted to the Commission today.

The increase in enrollment, the report states, will reduce the cost per capita considerably during the next fiscal year. In past years many applicants of the Board of Children's Guardians have been denied admission because of lack of room.

Decided interest, it is stated, is shown by the boys in manual training work, such as carpentry, building, blacksmithing, wheelwright work, plastering, painting and farming.
